DENTAL PHOTOGRAMMETRY:

What in the world is Photogrammetry? Dental photogrammetry is the newest and hottest topic within the dental community due to its high level of precision, it is the latest technology used in dentistry to create accurate three-dimensional models of oral and facial structures using photographic images.

Dental photogrammetry offers a non-invasive, efficient alternative to traditional methods like physical impressions, and can even enhance the accuracy and outcomes of oral surgery treatments. The process involves taking multiple photographs from different angles, which are analyzed and produces detailed 3D representations.

Overall, the benefits of photogrammetry include:

- Implant location accuracy
- Predictable outcomes
- No need for retries
- Reduced chair time
- Ease of interaction with your dental lab partner
